Father Ken's Note...

I recently ran across this Father's Day poem that I believe is beautiful. I am certain that you will feel the same way.

Bedtime came, we were settling down,
I was holding one of my lads.
As I grasped him so tight, I saw a strange sight:
My hands...they looked like my dad's!

I remember them well, those old gnarled hooks,
there was always a cracked nail or two.
And thanks to a hammer that strayed from its mark,
his thumb was a beautiful blue!

They were rough, I remember, incredibly tough
as strong as a carpenter's vice.
But holding a scared little boy at night,
they seemed to me awfully nice!

I don't mind the bruises, the scars here and there or the hammer that just seemed to slip. _____
I want most of all when my son takes my hand,
to feel that love lies in the grip.

by David Ketter

The sight of those hands-how impressive it was in the eyes of his little boy. _____
Other dads' hands were cleaner, it seemed (the effects of their office employ).

I gave little thought in my formative years of the reason for Dad's raspy mitts:
The love in the toil, the dirt and the oil,
rusty plumbing that gave those hands fits!

Thinking back, misty-eyed, and thinking ahead,
when one day my time is done.
The torch of love in my own wrinkled hands will pass on to the hands of my son.

*Father Ken, Father Dino and Father Roselo wish all of our fathers a
